WHAT IT IS

A first-time visitor guide built for the channel it actually travels through. One animated self-contained page under 50 KB that opens straight from a message on a phone, plus a second magazine-layout build for anyone who wants it printed. No hosting, no account, no app.

WHAT IT CHANGES

Opens from the message, so nobody has to install anything

Small enough to send over a weak connection

One source, two builds: screen and print

HTML · CSS animation · print layout

SOMETHING LIKE THIS, FOR YOUR WORK?

The interesting part is your version of the problem.

Tell me the workflow that costs you the most time or the most trust. I will tell you honestly whether a system fixes it.
